WHITE PLAINS, N.Y., Dec. 13.—Andrew J. White, an inmate of the State Asylum for Insane at Matteawan, today made a fight in the Supreme Court before Justice Keogh and a jury to prove that he is sane and should be released from the asylum, where he has been confined during the past eighteen months. White claims that his right name is George Kimmell and that the name of Kimmell that has been used for ten years is not true. Kimmell disappeared from Arkansas city ten years ago. At that time he was cashier of a bank there, and then suddenly disappeared when an alleged shortage of two years old, on being cross-questioned by Lawyer Francis Winslow, who represented the asylum, said he did not wish to go into the details of his life while cashier of the Farmington National Bank.

"When I am declared sane," said the alleged imbecile while on the witness stand,

"My sister" and White, "would like to see me."

The reason is simply this: Life insurance policies are an important feature of the life of the community.

Lawyer Burns had Dr. DeBorst, of White, sworn in as an expert witness in order to testify as to White's mental condition. Mr. Burns says a lame is not sane, and that a sane man is not insane and should be discharged. The asylum authorities say that White's insanity is incurable.

The jury in the case will have to decide whether the prisoner is a White or a Black.

HAZELHURST, Miss. Dec. 12.—Mrs. Angie Birdsong, convicted of the killing of Thomas Butler, is still too ill to appear in court and receive sentence, and Judge Miller will not have her placed in jail until she is shown to be sane. She is suffering a complete breakdown. A deputy sheriff has been appointed to guard the cottage in which the defendant is staying. The United States Senator, M. Eugene Harrison, is endeavoring to argue the motion for a new trial, and powerful influences are being brought to bear to secure a new sentence. It was circulated, asking Judge Miller to impose the minimum prison term. Scores of people have made voluntary offers to sign Mrs. Birdsong's bond, and thus secure her release. The United States Attorney has asked for a new trial. Counsel for Mrs. Birdsong this afternoon filed application for a writ of Habeas Corpus, and a woman admitted to bail. A bond for $10,000 can be furnished, if necessary. The United States Senator has written to Judge Miller by women in all parts of the State, urging a light sentence. Public feeling is running high against the woman, and is all with the woman. Strong resentment is shown against the sentence.

PITTSBURGH. Dec. 12.—Augustus Hartje and his attorneys were in conference today relative to preparing the papers in the divorce case. The divorce papers had been added adversely to Hartje yesterday by Judge Robert S. Pratt. After the meeting Attorney J. Francis Ferguson said:

"We have about six months, but we will have no more matter at once, and will appeal to the Superior Court, which means here next April."

Augustus Hartje, the negro coachman, convicted of perjury as a result of sensational statements made before the trial of the Hartje divorce case, was refused a new trial this afternoon. Judge Pratt said he would not pay a fine of $50 and undergo imprisonment of six years in the Western Penitentiary.

GROCER DEAD IN HIS STORE

Conrad Hesse, a grocer, lay dead behind his counter this afternoon while a customer who had entered his place, No. 214 East One Hundred and Sixty-sixth street, stood on the other side dropping with coins for somebody to wait on them. Hesse's nephew, Henry Laurie, who has an undertaking establishment in the same building, heard the customers, and going in, heard by questions as to where Hesse was. Laurie, looking about the place, found the grocer's body. Dr. William Wilson, the coroner, took the body away.

Worst Spill of Race To-day Puts Hollister in Hospital and Vanoni Out, Leaving Breton and Samuelson to Make Up Twelve Teams Now Remaining.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, Dec. 13.—Champion Bobby Walthour believes he is being unfairly dealt with by the referee and judges of the six-day race. He says he made up his lost lap at least three times, only to have the judges decide otherwise. To day Walthour apparently lapped the entire bunch again, and while he was being cheered by the crowd the judges announced that the lap didn't count because the "pick-up" of Bedell wasn't just right. Walthour says it was the best he ever made in his life. When the crowd learned of the judges' decision they hooted and hissed for a long while.

Shortly after this Walthour left the track for an hour's rest. He was very sore over his decision of the judges. To a reporter for the Evening World he made this first announcement:

NEW ORLEANS RESULTS.

FIRST RACE—Florizel (7 to 1 and 5 to 2) 1, Grand Duchess 6 to 5 for place) 2, Woodsway 3.

SECOND RACE—Pierrot (7 to 1 and 5 to 2) 1, Spilon (5 to 2 for place) 2, Prince Ahmed 3.

THIRD RACE—Devout (4 to 1 and 1 to 2) 1, Monet (6 to 1 for place) 2, Glen Gallant 3.

FOURTH RACE—Alma Dufour (8 to 5 and 1 to 2) 1, Envoy (7 to 5 for place) 2, Debar 3.

Envoy was disqualified, making Debar 2d and Royal Breeze 3d.

Several sensational splurges by Walthour and Bedell in an effort to gain their lost lap kept the six-day crowd in a frenzy of excitement during the day, but up to 1 o'clock the coveted distance had not been gained in a manner to suit the judges.

The spirit with which Walthour claims to have made the last lap, lasted all of five minutes during which the riders were cheered on by thousands. When he caught the last of the other riders the crowd broke in cheers. Then came the judges' decision that Walthour's "pick up" of his partner Bedell was illegal.

Hollister, who was seriously injured in the early morning spill, was taken from the garden in an ambulance at half o'clock and is out of the race for good. Sam Valenti, who was hurt in the same spill, Breton and Samuelsen, the remaining partners, are now teamed

A well planned effort on the part of Rutt and McFarland to stage a lap this afternoon was foiled by the sudden appearance of Matt Downey on the track to relieve Moran, his partner. Seeing an opportunity to catch all the fast sprinters asleep and the slow men wide awake, the game trainers hurriedly brought Rutt from the paddock and placed him on the cat near the track. They then notified McFarland "to jump." In obedience to instructions, McFarland started a lively Woodward made the running, followed by French and Florida. In the stretch Woodward was easily the best, and won easily by a length from Grand Duchess.

Downey is recognized as one of the best sprinters in the business, and to attempt to gain a lead under those circumstances would have been impossible. This plan having been foiled, all hands led back for another opening, and the incident grand continued.

Walthour made another desperate effort to gain a lead, but was easily

Money went to the front soon after the start and was running to the stretch, followed by Devout and Glen Gallant. In the stretch Monet tired and was overtaken by Glen Gallant, who beat him by two lengths from Monet, who beat Alfred by a head. The race was over at 5 o'clock this morning, but another race was held at 11:30 p.m. and was won by the same horse.

As Matt Downey, who was half a head ahead of the trailing bunch, made a lurch on the Twenty-sixth street side and fell into the enclosure inside of the track, rolling over on the floor. When the race was over, Walthour had passed half of the bunch and was on a fair way to the goal which he had been attempting to get since daylight.

Walthour seems to think that some one of the officials has a grudge against him. The decision was very unpopular to him. He said that he did not care for their disappointment for an hour. The spectators thought that the Judges should have notified Walthour that his sprint was illegal before they allowed him to go all the way to gain it.

Galvin and Wiley Behind.

Before the red flag went up Galvin and Wiley were clearly lapped. In consequence they lost three laps, as Walthour had passed them three times. This puts them far behind in the race. But Four boy bandits jumped into the automobile of Dr. Eoretta E. Grand, a woman physician, of No. 48 ohnson street, Brooklyn, as she was passing the Borough Hall, on Court street, to-day and robbed her of all her loose valuables, including a handbag containing $100.

Later in the day four boys were arrested as they were making their way to a matinee laden with purchases, and a confession was obtained from one of the juvenile crooks, while another complained bitterly that he had been robbed of his $20 share of the "whack-up."

Dr. LeGrand was on her rounds, guiding her motor-runabout down Court street toward Fulton, both crowded at that hour, when four boys jumped into her car from two sides. Their team work was fine, and before the astonished woman doctor could struggle or scream she had been de-

SYRACUSE, Dec. 13.—In conversation with a reporter in Syracuse this afternoon, on her way to Auburn, Mrs. Louise M. Gillette, mother of Chester Gillette, said it is her intention to visit Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, of South Otselo, the parents of Grace Brown, who was shot and killed at Auburn, N. Y., on Nov. 10.

"I shall first write a tender and sympathetic letter to the poor girl's mother," Mrs. Gillette said. "And then, if the spirit prompts me I shall go to South Otsego and shall tell her how deeply I feel for her in her sorrow. I do believe that I would be rewarded if I were able to realize the sincerity of my purpose."

Mrs. Gillette went on to speak of Grace Brown's letters. Upon the day they were read in my family, she said, "I was so overcome with sympathy that my daughter Hazel was entirely overcome and kept moaning, 'Oh, Chester! Oh, Chester!'"

"I wrote my boy and told him that he had thrown away a love such as it is,"

Plans Presented to Congress Show Many Novel Ideas for Vessel.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Congress received to-day from Secretary Bonaparte the draft of the plans for the big battleship provided for at the last session. There were four separate plans submitted by the Construction Bureau of the navy and six sets by private firms and individuals.

The plan selected by the department was one prepared by the construction bureau, embodying the following features and figures, the loadline line being 20 feet above water than that of any other battleship now built or building.

The elevation of the guns are greater, with consequent increase of long range fire; the defensive qualities are distinctly superior to any other battleship, and the percentage of weight of hull and armor exceeds by three thousand tons the largest battleship yet built.

The ship is to be 316 feet long, 85 feet 2-5/8 inches deep, 20,000 tons displacement, 27 knot draft, 2,300 tons capacity and 21-knot speed. She will have ten 11-inch rifles and fourteen 3-inch rapid-fire guns and some small machine guns for repelling boarders.

The limit of cost is $9,500,000.
